APPEARANCE: Malla Kyn stands 1.63 m tall and weighs 67 kg. She has long black & white spines sticking out from her back and the back of her head. She has a sturdy, athletic physique. She has ghostly white complexion with black stripes of various thickness on her arms, legs, and torso. She has a large black band on her face across her eyes.

CHARACTER'S BIRTH DATE: 13th of Maru, 135 N/A

BACKGROUND: Malla Kyn is from the Cambol village of Grover. Her large family, with multiple aunts and uncles, all lived under the same round house in the rundown area of Grover's east side. They were poor but happy; or so Malla thought. At the age of six, her mother, Skella, walked out on her and the family and left the village. Malla was raised by her father, and his extended relations, so she never really knew her mother.

The large Kyn family consists of her father, Howel, her two siblings, Holmus (-2 years younger, brother) and Ronza (-3 years younger, sister), two married aunts and uncles, and one single uncle. Malla was born in the family area of their home. When she was born, a small swarm of dragon bugs attacked the family's livestock. Various family members rushed out to chase the dragon bugs away. Skella mentioned that was a bad omen for the family.

Malla would often skip her chores while growing up and go hang out at the local drinking establishment. She loved listening to the various regulars' outrageous tales of action and adventure. Malla always knew the stories weren't true but she loved the way they would tell them, often in between multiple drinks and/or hands of cards. This is where Malla's obsession for money took root.

At the age of thirteen, Malla became friends with a female Dabber (named Skara Eglen) of the same age. They were inseparable as a pair. They did everything together until a falling out happened between the two families. Both Malla and Skara still considered themselves friends but their families said otherwise. Skara left Grover with her family. Initially Malla didn't know what happened that caused the rift between the two families. A year later she would learn that her father had accused Skara's father of being a thief of a family relic (a twisted wire statuette of a pair of figures dancing). The Eglen family denied everything and the tempers between the two parties started boiling over in violence so the Eglens left Grover. [GM NOTE: The family relic was actually taken by Malla's mother, Skella.]

At the age of fifteen, Malla gained an unwanted admirer in one Skatt Sweenee (humanoid male who is a year older). The Sweenee family are a violent cult-like, renegade family from the forest near Slippery Rock. Most Cambol tribesmen want nothing to do with the Sweenees and their twisted ways (they are known for kidnapping children and then indoctrinating them into the family). Skatt started to force his physical attention onto Malla but she quickly put him in place with a solid left hook knocking Skatt unconscious. Malla then dumped the dazed Skatt to the nearby rubbish pit. When he regained consciousness, he was furious. No woman (or man) could do that to him; he was a Sweenee. Skatt (and his demented family) are now out for revenge.

Malla is tired of being poor and desires to get rich. At a young age, she was a wheeler and dealer always on the look out to earn some extra money. She dreams of exploring the lands beyond the Cambol tribe's borders and getting rich doing it. Who knows what treasure lies out there waiting to be discovered.

Malla is taking the Rite of Passage into Pitz Burke so she can become an adult member of Clan Cambol. She has acquired a needler by the Lil chief, Spiv, on condition of rescuing his children who are captives of the Car-rins. She has also recently rescued a hopper leveret (baby) that she found with its slain mother near Eport.
