BACKGROUND: Harold Augustus Weaver was abducted from Earth in 1957 by an alien race known as the Mindl'Zahn. The Mindl'Zhan were a race of intergalactic hoarders. When they saw something that they wanted, they took. They were known to snatch everything from specific individuals to whole planets.

By the time that the Mindl'Zahn snatched Weaver, they had been diminished

He spent fifty years in deep sleep hibernation and when he awoke, he found himself amongst monstrous beings. At least, that's what was his initial impression. He soon realized that they too had been snatched by the Mindl'Zahn from their own respective worlds. Weaver was able to rally his fellow abductees and they rose up against their Mindl'Zahn abductors. The fighting was fierce but Weaver and his fellow sleepers were able to escape their imprisonment and abscond a shuttle to freedom.

This freedom was short lived when their shuttle was attacked by Kree space pirates looking for easy booty. The Kree vessel, Star-Raider, blasted Weaver's stolen shuttle and disabled it.

When the shuttle was boarded, Weaver and his fellow escapee sleepers overran the Kree pirates and took control of the vessel. Weaver renamed the Star-Raider to the Sundassa Shroud.

A few of the Star-Raider's Kree crew decided to remain on board under Weaver's command. One such crew was the Kree pirate, Anja-Kor. He would grow to respect Weaver as a person and as a captain. As a result, he would eventually become the chief of security aboard the Sundassa Shroud.

The Sundassa Shroud's crew consists of Captain Weaver, his Tsyranri first mate (Tyaeli), his Shi'ar pilot (Kjolar), his human mechanic (Jared Brisbane), his chief of security (Anjor-Kor), an Ergon muscle (Zorgano), and an independent Rigellian Recorder (Triple Three). The crew are all wanted for piracy in the Shi'ar, Kree, and Skrull Empires. Naturally the Rigellians are also keen on reacquiring the Rigellian Recorder known as 333Ω3 (or just Triple Three). The Rigellians want to know why and how did the recorder break its programming.
